AMUSEMENTS

SALT LAKE THEATER—"The Spring Maid." Beginning tonight for three nights and a matinee. Evening curtain, 8:15.

COLONIAL THEATER—"The Durbur in Kismet." All week. Matinee Gunning in "The Balkan Princess," April 25 and 26.

ORPHEUM THEATER—Advanced vaudeville. All week. Matinee daily, 2:15. Evening, 8:15.

GARRICK THEATER—Max Figman, supported by Garrick players, in "The Man on the Box." Evening curtain, 8:15. Matinee today, 2:15.

EMPEROR THEATER—Sullivan-Connolly vaudeville. All week. Matinee daily, 2:30. Two evening performances, 7:30 and 9:15. BHI changes Wednesday afternoon.

The Empress theater opened the twenty-sixth consecutive week of its initial season yesterday afternoon and evening, when the first production of a new bill of more than usual interest and novelty were given to crowded houses.

As the headline, Harry Irwin's "La Petite Revue," an original miniature musical production, with a cast of six singers of ability, easily merits that title, and offers something new to patrons of the theater.

The act depicts in three different scenes many settings of a dream, which is told in song by E. K. Schilling, a baritone soloist with a pleasing voice, who sings before a fireplace at the right wing. In the center appears a miniature stage. The members of the cast are Miss Belle Mallette, first soprano; Miss Irene Conzulin, second soprano; Miss Laura Struyf, contralto; George Sinclair, tenor; and Harry Irwin, basso. The piece is musically directed by Henry Wilson.

Scene I is that in which the cast represents a number of renowned celebrities, such as Calve, Caruso, Farrar and others in songs in which those artists have won fame. The feature of the act is that the bodies of the singers are miniature, while the singers place their heads through a dark curtain at the rear of the little stage in such a manner as to appear a part of the tiny figures. The effect is highly amusing and furnished opportunity for many peculiar antics.

Scene II is about 11 M. S. Pinafore and scene III represents a midnight serenade of cats on top of a bush yard wall. The chorus is one in which the antics and half-raiding sounds that usually break in upon dreams or slumber are reproduced most humorously, not to say with great credit to the performers, considering the difficulty of the music. The audience seems to enjoy it immensely.

Les Gougets are talented musicians from Paris who perform a number of new feats with the cornet and other similar instruments. One of these is to reproduce the sounds of a slide-trombone, cornet and other brass instruments, all through one small cornet. Another is for one of the performers to play two instruments at the same time, carrying two different parts. M. Gougets also balances a long horn directly upon his mouth and proceeds to play without using his hands in any way.

Mae Devlin and John Kaufmann present "The Girl From Yonkers" in a satisfactory manner. The sketch is full of humor and is possible of big things.

The Bonington brothers offer a well-staged athletic act, and display unusual muscular development in pleasing style. Phil Bennett, the Alpine troubadour, is a gifted vocalist, and made an impression in street songs and with his yodeling. Merritt and Douglas are an odd pair of singing and talking comedians, who please their listeners. The photoplay is one of the latest importation and is excellent. The theater orchestra maintains its usual standard. On the whole the bill is a most satisfactory one, and has been secured by Manager McCoy heretofore.

The greatest novelty of the season in the motion picture line is the Durbur in Kismet, as shown at the Colonial theater. Among the many films reproducing the world's greatest pageant in natural colors, one that is commanding unusual attention shows the king-emperor's crown, valued at $200,000. The crown is eleven and one-half inches high, and contains 4700 diamonds and emeralds. There will be a matinee of the pictures at the Colonial for school children Friday at 4 p. m.

This is matinee day at the Garrick, and the first afternoon performance of "The Man on the Box" will be given. Mr. Figman has scored heavily as "the man." Miss Collier, in the role of Betty Amesley, is charming, and her reception this week has been enthusiastic. For the coming week the Garrick will present Mr. Figman and the Garrick players in another Figman success, "The Substitute."

In Balto's "Mephistopheles," presented by the opera company, owned by the Prince of Monaco at the Royal opera house, Berlin, last season, Ida Fuller's fire scene, a feature at the Orpheum this week, is given great prominence. The fire effect being so realistic that the management caused to be printed on each programme a note advising the public that there was no danger, as the effect was produced entirely by mechanical means.

"The Spring Maid," with Mizzi Hajos singing the name part, will open its second local engagement at the Salt Lake theater beginning this evening. In addition to Mizzi Hajos, the dainty, little Hungarian prima donna, Charles McNaughton, the well-known English comedian who played in the London production of "The Spring Maid," plays the leading comedy role in the present production.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away—Salt Lake City People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers from backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Salt Lake City testimony to prove it.

Andrew Reynolds, 379 West First North St., Salt Lake City, Utah, says: "I can add nothing to the public statement I gave in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills three years ago, except to say that I am still glad to speak a word in their belief. You may continue to publish my testimonial. I was caused considerable trouble by backache and a feeling of distress extending from my loins into the top of my legs. I rested poorly at night and felt miserable in every way when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice. I procured a supply at the Schramm-Johnson Co.
